Fellowship Opportunities at the Center for Research on Chronic Illness University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

The Center for Research on Chronic Illness is funded by NINR, NIH to support interdisciplinary research related to the prevention and management of chronic illness in vulnerable people. The Center's research includes studies of CVD risks in youth, life skills in children with cystic fibrosis, risk in pre-term infants, physical activity in rural African Americans, HIV self-care management, treatment of cancer pain, and managing uncertainty in cancer.

The Center is interested in helping advance the careers of doctorally prepared nurse-investigators through our Post-doctoral Research Fellowship Program. The Center can provide assistance to individuals interested in writing grants for post-doctoral research fellowships (e.g., NRSA, K01s etc.) to work with Center investigators at the School of Nursing. We also can help minority investigators develop minority supplements to federally funded Center grants. The School of Nursing also offers an Institutional NRSA from NINR to support pre- and post- doctoral fellows in the study of interventions to prevent and manage chronic illness.
